

1998 July 2nd
Nigel Scott with wife Elizabeth, prior to meeting The Queen.

The presentation of St. George's Day Award Insignia and Queen's Scout Award Royal Certificates was held recently at Dunblane Cathedral. The Area Commissioner Galloway, Nigel Scott, was presented with the Silver Acorn in recognition of specially distinguished services by the Chief Commissioner of Scotland, Andrew Matthew.

Nigel was appointed scout leader Gatehouse in 1980 and was group scout leader when he took over as Area Commissioner Galloway in 2000 where he works extremely hard to ensure that all young people in the area enjoy the best scouting that they can. The highlight of his time as area commissioner was the visit of the chief scout, George Purdy, last year to Kirkdale Port, the area camp site. Nigel was accompanied by his wife Elizabeth, son Robert, and the area chairman Galloway, Drew Low.

Nigel Scott (right) receives The Silver Acorn from Andy Matthew, Chief Commissioner for Scotland.

